| Questions and Answers | |
|-----------------------|---|
| Q1 | What is the latest physical occupancy for The Castings? Is this BTR asset expected to contribute to distribution in FY 2025? |
| A1 | As of 31 March 2025, The Castings achieved a physical occupancy of 67.9%, up from 59.1% reported at the end of December 2024. Leasing momentum has improved with the conclusion of the winter season. The property is anticipated to reach stabilisation by third quarter of FY 2025. More detailed updates will be provided in the upcoming interim operational update scheduled for 30 April 2025. Assuming stabilisation occurs by the third quarter this year, The Castings is expected to contribute positively to CDLHT’s distribution in FY 2025, after accounting for funding costs. |
| Q2 | CDLHT’s share price has fallen significantly in the past year to the lowest level since the pandemic and is currently trading at nearly 50% discount to its Net Asset Value. Is the market’s pessimistic view of CDLHT warranted? What actions can be taken to address the depressed valuation? |
| A2 | We acknowledge the decline in CDLHT’s share price over the past year and recently, reaching levels last seen during the pandemic. The current trading discount to Net Asset Value (NAV) reflects a broader market sentiment that may not fully appreciate the underlying resilience and long-term value of the portfolio, particularly underpinned by the prime Singapore assets. The prevailing market sentiments are also influenced by market conditions and macroeconomic factors such as elevated interest rates, geopolitical uncertainties and sector specific challenges. Despite these external headwinds, we remain confident in CDLHT’s robust portfolio of quality assets, prudent risk management practices and strategic growth initiatives. Our focus continues to be on delivering sustainable mid-to-long-term returns to our unitholders. |

|-----------|---|
| | To address the current valuation and enhance unitholder value, the Managers have been and continue to undertake several strategic actions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Diversification into Resilient Asset Classes: We have expanded our portfolio by entering the living asset class, including the residential build-to-rent (BTR) sector and purpose-built student accommodation (PBSA) sector with the opening of The Castings (Manchester, UK) in July 2024 and acquisition of Benson Yard (Liverpool, UK) in December 2024. This asset class diversification aims to enhance the portfolio with more stable and recurring income streams. • Prudent Capital Management: We maintain a disciplined approach to capital management, ensuring a healthy balance sheet and financial flexibility to navigate the current interest rate environment. • Active Portfolio Rejuvenation: We continue to assess and implement asset enhancement initiatives to improve the competitiveness and performance of our properties. We believe that these strategic measures, coupled with the inherent strengths of our portfolio, will position CDLHT well to weather current market challenges and capitalize on future growth opportunities. |
| Q3 | Do the Managers expect borrowing costs to trend lower in the year ahead? |
| A3 | Interest rates have trended lower since the end of FY 2024 which is in line with our expectations. We have been capitalising on the recent decline in borrowing costs to progressively fix some of our floating-rate loans. While there are expectations of further decline in borrowing costs, the outlook remains uncertain due to evolving geopolitical developments, such as the introduction of tariffs under the Trump administration. These factors could influence inflationary pressures and central bank policies, potentially affecting the pace of interest rate adjustments. The Managers continue to monitor these developments closely and manage its capital structure prudently through proactive interest rate management, including the use of interest rate swaps to navigate market volatility and manage borrowing costs. |
